

APPENDIX SEVEN

Quotations Regarding Hebrews 10:20

Quotations Regarding Hebrews 10:20

This verse revives the thought of Chap. VI:20, of Jesus as at once our forerunner preceding us into the presence of God, and our high priest. The way is new, not the old road of outward sacrifice, but the devotion of willing hearts. Jesus dedicated it to the use of the redeemed host by first travelling along it himself (for the essence of the dedication consisted in a solemn opening for the first time to public use).

Frederick Randall, Epistle to the Hebrews (London, 1888), p. 87.

★ ★ ★

The writer is almost prepared to say that the entry of Christ into the heavenly places consecrated them to be a sanctuary.

C.T. Vaughan, Epistle to the Hebrews (London, 1896), p. 121.

★ ★ ★